

Do you have acne, alopecia, eczema and/
or psoriasis?

Are you aged 12-24?

Do you want to share your story to help other people who are going through the same thing?

I am a researcher at the University of Oxford, looking for people in England aged 12-24 to interview about their experiences of living with a skin-related condition. This research will be used to create a new section on the young people's part of healthtalk.org on acne, alopecia, eczema and psoriasis. This unique, award winning website is run by a national charity and allows you to find out about a range of health-related issues by watching videos of young people talking about their real-life experiences.
