

'What research can do for you'

16th December 2015

Warneford Hospital, McInnes Room

Programme

10.00- 10.10 Welcome and introduction

Professor John Geddes, Director of Research & Development

Putting research into practice

10.10- 11.10 The use of electronic health records for research – The CRIS system

Tanya Smith, CRIS Coordinator

11.10- 11.40 Mindfulness-based interventions, promise but no panacea

Dr Willem Kuyken

11.40- 12.00 Medical research in a mental health setting

Dr Valeria Frighi

12.00- 12.30 Break for lunch, networking and posters

12.30- 13.00 The WHELD Project: Well being and Health for People with Dementia

Dr Jane Fossey

13.00- 13.30 Ketamine for treatment resistant depression

Dr Rupert McShane

13.30- 14.00 Measuring experienced coercion in mental health care - developing a new way forwards

Dr Andrew Molodynski

14.00- 14.15 Refreshments

The wider research community

14.15- 15.15

- An Oxford RCT of treatment for personality disorder and other curiosities
Dr Steve Pearce
- Integrating research into community mental health
Maninder Kaur and Bradley Mullins
- How can we materially help busy mental health professionals keep up to date with the latest research findings?
Andrea Cipriani and Leah Marriner

15.15- 16.15 A strategy for involving patients and the wider public in research: Beyond ticking the box

Professor Iliana Singh and Dr Mary Jane Attenburrow

16.15- 16.30 Close and review of the day

Emma Stratful, Head of Research & Development

*There will be information and posters on display covering research studies and activities within OHFT

Please note that the McInnes room is not wheelchair accessible