

Public and Patient Involvement: Involving patients and the public in research

Are you a researcher who wants to know more about Patient and Public Involvement (PPI)?

Are you a researcher who is looking for reliable online resources to help get you started with PPI?

Are you a PPI lead or responsible for PPI in your team or theme looking for support and information?

If so, NIHR Oxford Biomedical Resource Centre together with Oxford University's Nuffield Department of Primary Care Health Sciences are pleased to invite you to a training session on how to involve patients and the public in your research work.

Join us either online or in person:

7 July 2022 11:00-12.30 online

26 July 2022 14:30 – 16:00 online

20 September 2022 09:30 – 11:00 JR Hospital
